

2012

The truth about the beginning of the end of era that has just begun but unfortunately is about to abruptly come to a halt.

Are you enjoying your last years on earth? The world is going to end in four short years but where are the riots, where are the bunkers, the praying, the mass panic? The answer: the government is hiding the facts from the public so they can live in security for their last years.

Wait, what?

The Mayan calendar confirms it: the world is going to end in 2012 on December 21st at 11:11 AM. Why? The ancient Mayan calendar comes to an end on this day. Who knows what they were predicting, certainly something that made it not worth counting out more time. It may even have been a date given to them by an alien race. Unfortunately, no ancient Mayans could be reached for comment on this issue. Why? The government must be hiding them. I was doing research at my school when I tried to access a website on the mysterious 2012 theory. It was blocked, clearly because the government did not want me to have access to this information. When I asked my TA, he claimed that the website was blocked for pornographic images. Coincidence? I think not. The government is obviously paying him.

What Could Happen

No one can say for sure what is going to happen in 2012, but I can say for certain that something will happen; just look at how suspicious everything is. The question is what? There are many possibilities, each as legitimate and probable as the next. One possible possibility is that an enormous asteroid could collide with the earth. I contacted NASA to see if they were tracking any nearby asteroids. They claimed that there weren't any. When I Wikipedia'd NASA, I found out that they are a government organization, and therefore in on the conspiracy. There could be a trillion asteroids heading for earth this very moment. More evidence to corroborate this can be found in the movie, Deep Impact. In the movie Deep Impact, in which an asteroid is about to collide with the earth causing mass extinction, Morgan Freeman plays the president, a black president. Guess who's going to be president in 2012, Barack Obama, also a black president. This is clearly an omen that catastrophe is headed for the planet earth in 2012.

Something will happen

Pornographic images

Another probable probability is a pole shift. There are two ways this could happen. One way is that the earth could flip over, if this were to happen fast enough we could all be thrown from the surface out into space, or into a wall, whichever gets in the way first. The other possibility is that the earth's crust will slide around to reverse the poles. This would be like an earthquake but a million times worse. Look at the destruction an earthquake can cause when the tectonic plates shift only a few inches, imagine what thousands of miles would do. I was interested in this theory so I thought I'd try to contact a colleague who specializes in... uh, whatever field this is, to see what he thought. "There is little or no evidence to support any of this," was the response I got, and that was when I knew, he was a part of the conspiracy as well. The government must have bought out all the scientists in the nation, and possibly the world. The only person I could trust is myself, and myself told me that bad things are going to happen.

We could all be thrown from the surface out into space, or into a wall.

The Smoking Gun

While sifting through the piles of evidence that the end is coming I stumbled upon something that eliminated all doubt. I noticed that the government kept showing up in my research. I came across a government document labeled "Form 1040 U.S. Individual Income Tax Return" Apparently it was from a mysterious government department called the IRS. It seemed like they were raising funds for their imminent takeover. Then I noticed that if you take the word 'government' and rearrange the letters you get the words grovent men. I realized that this must be the name of an alien species, meaning the government is composed of aliens! They must have been sent here to keep

The next time you see a government official, be sure to torch them with a flame thrower us all in the dark until the rest of their species could arrive. The next time you see a government official, be sure to torch them with a flame thrower, like in The Thing.

What to do About It

So the question remains, what are we going to do about all this? The events that threaten the earth's future are beyond anything we humans could ever hope to control, there isn't really anything we could do to stop our imminent doom. Any chance that we had of finding a solution was crushed when the government chose to keep it quiet which stopped people like me from getting to work on this sooner. The only thing we all can do is make the most of the time we have left. Do all the things you always wanted to do. Quit your job, disobey the laws of society, kumbaya in the streets, none of it will matter come 2012.